

What We Do

The Work Release program allows participants to gain employment, fulfill financial responsibilities, reintegrate back into the community and reduces the taxpayer's burden for inmate incarceration costs.

Our Commitment

Employers and Work Release can provide inmates the employment opportunity they need to be successful upon release and reduce the recidivism in our community.

“ Our mission is to serve our community by providing rehabilitation services to individuals in our custody by preparing them for a successful return to their community, family and work force.”

Advantages of Work Release

Participants are prompt, reliable, motivated, cooperative, and desire full-time employment to maintain upon release.

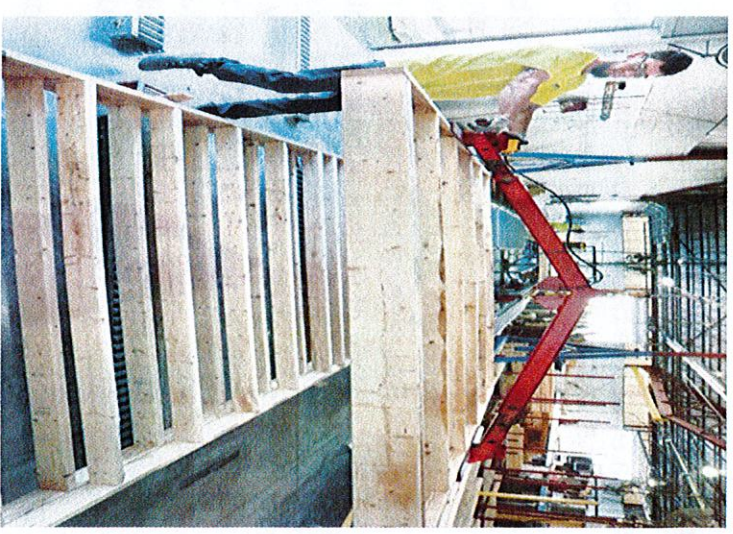

“She just celebrated her 1 year anniversary with us. We are very happy she is a part of our team.”

Work Opportunity Tax Credit

Companies can receive a Federal Tax Credit for hiring individuals from target groups, such as a person hired within 1 year of being convicted of a felony or within 1 year of being released from prison for a felony conviction sentence.

Federal Bonding

Companies can meet their hiring needs and protect their assets. Contact your VA State Bonding Services Coordinator at 804-887-8262 for $5,000 worth of fidelity bond coverage, including those hired by “temp agencies.”

Working Together

Through effective two-way communication, we can make the program a success:

- We review each inmate for eligibility based on their sentence, criminal history, and institutional adjustment. To be considered for Work Release, a participant shall not have a history of violent felonies within the past 5 years, shall not have a history of sex offenses, shall not have a history of escape within the past 5 years, shall not have an active protection order against him/her, and shall not have a poor jail adjustment or pattern of jail misconduct.
- We monitor all Work Release participants using GPS tracking technology.
- Notify Work Release of any changes in a participant's work schedule, status and performance.
- Report any obvious rule violations to Work Release.

Easy as 1, 2, 3

1. Submit a completed Work Agreement
2. Submit a copy of your current city or county Business License or Contractor's license.
3. Submit a cop of your Certificate of General Liability and Worker's Compensation Insurance.

Who We Are

About Us

The Work Release program began as a separate entity in the 1980s. It merged with the newly developed Regional Adult Detention Center in 1991. It became an integral part of the Community Corrections Center as part of the Regional Jail's expansion in June of 2006
